About the artist

Daniel Acuña (Luanco, 1993)
Asturian visual artist.

Since early 2023, he has been working on the series "Blue Abstraction," in which Acuña explores the seabed. This series began when he saw the problems trawling nets posed to marine biodiversity. Thus, Acuña shows us the beauty we have, which we are slowly extinguishing without realizing it.

The dynamism of these captured forms is striking; selected and extracted to reflect a piece of the thalassa -sea in ancient Greek-, which is frozen, metaphorically, on the canvas. They are agitated creating vertical compositions on saturated backgrounds, on rectangular, square or round supports.

The colors of the works vary among themselves, since the series not only intends to dignify the animalistic painting linked to aquatic life, but also to investigate the chromatic possibilities in environments that naturally have little or almost no illumination -interior of the sea-.

The paintings of this young artist attract the viewer's attention. This has made his works have traveled since mid 2023 to several Art Fairs in cities such as Luxembourg, Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels, and two consecutive years in Estampa, Madrid.

In addition, with several works of this same series, he has achieved selections in competitions of Young Artists in cities such as Salamanca and Benidorm, and participation in the Biennial of Art of Valencia.
